How a man can still dine famously at home

You don't need a butler to make a perfectly ordinary meal seem convincingly like a banquet. A bottle of Directors' Bin will do just as well. A glass of this noble and benevolent port wine will bring the simplest supper to its end with a fanfare of trumpets. And astonishingly, Directors' Bin costs no more than 26/- a bottle.

KLOTEN AIRPORT, ZURICH

Zurich . . . crossroads of the world's air routes. Clear day for your take-off . . . and in the distance the snow-crowned Alps. Then, with the view, a relaxing cigarette. Natural choice, Benson & Hedges, so right and reassuring. Benson & Hedges, instinctively, when only the best will do.

*the A.B.C. of Sparklets giving!

A The Hostmaster. Ruby, Old Gold or Pearl Green: 75/8 from stores or chemists. Give a Sparklets Syphon and you're giving away the secret of the freshest, tangiest soda that ever splashed into a glass!

B The Streamline. Chromium finish: 105/11. With a Sparklets Syphon, soda is as easy as ABC. All the happy recipient has to do is fill it with water, screw in a Sparklets Bulb and splash in the right direction!

C The Globemaster. Perfect for the longest drinks because it holds twice as much soda. 113/6: In Ruby and Old Gold. Looks as good on the sideboard as the soda tastes in the glass!

P.S. The magic of Sparklets. If you already own a syphon, don't forget those bulbs. Box of Ten 5/6.

perfect partners

Mellow music and good mature port are perfect partners. And Partners' is that perfect port from Sandeman that is still most harmoniously priced at 19/6 a bottle. A smooth and kindly port of this calibre is for drinking at any time, in whatever kind of glass you like. Use your own judgement —take your Partners' whenever you please.

And what, may you ask, has a Jogger to do with a perfect cup of tea?

Some of the twenty-five or so different teas that may be used in one blend of Brooke Bond tea are bulkier in leaf than others, weight for weight. How then to ensure that your packet of tea does not bulge or sag and yet contains exactly ¼-lb?

That's where the Jogger comes in—a special instrument developed by Brooke Bond. It simulates the vibrating action of the packing machine. One ¼-lb. of the proposed blend is funnelled into the calibrated glass tube. This rests on a stepped wooden block. As the block is pulled out, the tube 'jogs' from step to step, settling the tea down a little further at each step. If the blend is right, it will finally be level with the correct calibration mark.

The Brooke Bond blenders not only see that you get the right blend, but also that it is properly packed. To this they add the firm promise of a perfect cup of tea.
